(A) Although marine turtles spend most of their time at sea, they come to land to lay their eggs. The female goes ashore at night on a remote sandy beach and scratches a hole in the sand. There she lays her eggs in a clutch of up to 200 which may take her several nights to complete. Her task done, she abandons the eggs and returns to sea. The eggs are incubated in the warm sand and hatched with no aid or further interest from their mother.

25. Who hatches the baby marine turtles?
(A) Their mother does.            (B) Their father does.
(C) The warm sand does.            (D) The sea water does.
26. Which of the following statements is true?
(A) During the spawn period, the female marine turtle can lay only one egg each day.
(B) After laid by their mother, the baby turtles are deserted by their mother.
(C) The female turtles go to lay their eggs in company with their mates.
(D) The baby marine turtles are brought up by their father.

(B) Italy enjoyed a highly developed and specialized civilization from about 264 B.C. until the fall of the Roman Empire in 476 A.D.. Important contributions were made in art, science, education, religion, and architecture. Remains of Roman-built structures can still be seen in various parts of Africa and Europe today. Probably the most lasting of the Roman heritage to the world can be found in laws based on Roman legal principles as found in England, Latin America, and the United States, as well as the Roman alphabet which forms the basis of many languages among which are English, Spanish, and German.

27. Which of the following is considered the most enduring heritage of the Romans?

- (A) art                      (B) science                      (C) law                      (D) education

28. All of the following are true except ____.

(B) Ruins of some Roman-built structures can be found.
(C) Roman Empires fell in the fourth century A.D..
(D) The ancient Romans were talented in many areas.

(C) Members of one of the finest detective forces in the world wear no badges and carry no guns. Their only weapons are their strength and courage and a diploma from an intensive school—the Police Service Dog Center near Ottawa, Canada.

From the time he enters school, each dog recruit is instilled with severe military discipline. First, he is taught to obey, sit and lie down. Next comes field training where he learns how to track down clues, guard prisoners, and rescue a drowning man or a victim pinned under a fallen tree. Another difficult lesson the dog detective must master is to accept food only once a day—and from no one but his trainer. This lesson is his best insurance against the jaws of a baited trap or the painful death from poisoned meat. In his final lessons the Police Service dog learns to jump through windows, to climb up and down ladders and to capture an armed man without getting shot. Not only must he be tough—the dog must be a gentleman, too, because many of his missions are retrieving lost children.

29. What is the topic of this reading?

- (A) The Life of Dogs in Canada                      (B) The Training of Police in Canada
(C) The Diet of Police Dogs in Canada                      (D) The Training of Police Dogs in Canada
