	The tiny village of Frinley is said to possess a "cursed tree." Because the tree was mentioned in a newspaper, the number of visitors to Frinley 41 now increased. The tree was planted near a church fifty years ago, but it is only in recent years 42 it has gained an evil reputation. It is said that if anyone touches the tree, (s)he will have bad luck; if (s)he picks a leaf, (s)he will die. Many villagers believe that the tree has already 43 a number of victims. The vicar has been asked to have the tree 44 down, but so far he has refused. He has pointed out that the tree is a useful source of income 45 tourists have been coming from all parts of the country to see it. In spite of all that has been said, the tourists have been picking leaves and cutting their names on the tree trunk. So far, not one of them has been struck down by sudden death.

them, and they did nothing but sit around croaking in a bored manner and wishing for a government that could entertain them with the pomp and display of royalty, and rule them in a way to make them know they were being ruled. No milk and water government for them, they declared, so they sent a petition to Zeus asking for a king.  Zeus saw what foolish and ignorant creatures they were. However, to make them shut up and have them think they had a king, he threw down a huge log, which dropped into the water from high in the air with a great splash. The Frogs hid themselves among the reeds and grasses, thinking the new king to be some fearful and intimidating giant. But they soon discovered how tame and peaceable King Log was. In a short time the younger Frogs were using him for a diving platform, whereas the older Frogs made him a meeting place, where they still complained loudly to Zeus about the government.  To teach the Frogs a lesson, the ruler of the gods now sent a Crane to be king of Frogland. The Crane proved to be a very different kind of king from old King Log. He gobbled up the poor Frogs right and left and they soon saw what idiots they had been. In mournful croaks they begged Zeus to take away the cruel tyrant before they should all be destroyed.  "How now!" cried Zeus. "Are you not yet content? You have what you asked for and so you have only yourselves to blame for your misfortunes."
