四、閱讀測驗

Many people think of dirt as being, well, dirty! Parents often tell their children not to play in dirt. And there are good reasons to be wary. Soil often contains bacteria, parasites and pollutants that can make people sick. With so many risks, it is no surprise that many people find geophagy—literally the eating of earth or soil—unappetizing.

Yet, geophagy is actually a relatively common practice in many parts of the world. The fact that the eating of soil is also widespread in the animal kingdom suggests that geophagy may even be a natural process.

Why dirt? Some soils are surprisingly rich in minerals and nutrients such as iron and copper. People can often get more of these nutrients from geophagy than from taking vitamin supplements. This is why geophagists often claim to like the "sour taste" of dirt and to have cravings for it. It also explains why geophagy is often most common among pregnant women and nursing mothers.

In some cases, soil can make dangerous foods safe to consume. People have long known that certain poisonous wild acorns and potatoes become edible when mixed with soil.

Sometimes, soil is even taken as medicine! Many stomach medications contain the clay Kaolin because it absorbs bacteria and toxins that cause diarrhea.

Unfortunately, geophagy is also practiced to avoid hunger pains when other food is not enough. In poor countries, food can become so expensive that people substitute soil for flour or rice. This is a serious social problem because even mineral-rich soils can't provide a balanced diet.

- [1] 46. What does "geophagy" mean?
 - ① Eating dirt.
 - ② Taking medicine.
 - 3 Observing nature.
 - Taking supplements.
- [3] 47. In this article, which of the following word does NOT mean the same as the other three?
 - ① Dirt.
 - ② Soil.
 - 3 Iron.
 - 4 Earth.
- [1] 48. What nutrient(s) are soils rich in so people can benefit by eating them?
 - ① Copper.
 - ② Bacteria.
 - 3 Parasites.
 - Pollutants.
- [4] 49. According to this article, why is geophagy often most common among pregnant women and nursing mothers?
 - ① Because they want to stop hunger pains.
 - ② Because they regard it as a natural process.
 - 3 Because they hate taking vitamin supplements.
 - 4 Because they like the taste of dirt as well as the nutrients.
- [4] 50. According to this article, which of the following is NOT true?
- ① Geophagy is practiced by both humans and animals.
- ② Geophagy is sometimes practiced because of food shortage.
- 3 Some dangerous foods become safe to eat when mixed with soil.
- Soils are so mineral-rich they can provide us with a balanced diet.
